There's no question science solves many of our modern-day problems. Yet, we haven't such confidence that it can give the MTA a vandal-proof seat.

For there's no evidence accruing these days that science can cope with the mid-20th Century juvenile mind which makes public and private property a fitting target

What's the answer to the urge that causes today's youth to trample freshly seeded laws—both public and private? What's the answer to the destruction of fine new public playground equipment?

What's the answer to the wanton invasion of school properties with malicious damages running into thousands of dollars? What's the answer to the stoning of unoccupied homes and homes under construction?

Whatever the answer may be science hasn't found it. Maybe, it will be found in the minds of parents who have forgotten how to teach a respect for property-both public and private. Maybe, it will be found in a breakdown of those concepts of respect for authority which another generation knew.

Political Overtones

At no time during the conference did the Governor endeavor to recruit any new support for his sales tax bill which now appears to be headed for almost certain

As a matter of fact, at the time Furcolo was holding his second conference with top Democrats in the Legisla-ture, Democratic State Senate Leader John E. Powers was in Pittsfield blasting away with both barrels at the Governor's sales tax measure. Any peace pact Governor Furcolo now achieves with Senator Powers would be strictly of a superficial and onthe-surface nature. The differences between Furcolo and Powers are far too wide and too deep-seated to be smoothed out by any amount of soft talk by the Governor. Powers is too much of an old pro in politics to make it evident publicly that he is at odds with the leader of his own party on anything other than the sales tax.

Those who have kept abreast of what has transpired at the State House during the past five months, how-ever, know that Furcolo and Powers are merely coolly civil and polite to each other but that underneath a current of antagonism runs pretty strong

The feeling between Furcolo and Speaker Michael F. Skerry, notwithstanding their two recent conferences, is not much better than that between Furcolo and Powers, although Skerry is not as volatile and does not have as low a boiling point as Powers.

All the Governor did at his two conferences with the legislative leaders was to discuss a proposed investigation into automobile insurance rates and outline revisions which will be recommended in the law creating the Massachusetts Port Authority.

He may have helped to smooth the way for those two measures, but that is about all he did succeed in

Reporters covering one of Governor Furcolo's recent press conferences listened with some wonderment when he told them that the only difference between the Democratic and Republican parties in Massachusetts is that "the Republicans seem to carry on their differences in the press, while we Democrats more or less keep our differences to

The Governor made that statement with a straight face and apparently meant what he said, although in doing so it would seem that he was assuming the role of a political ostrich Ironically, Furcolo made that observation a minute or two after he had declined to make any comment on the pronouncement of Democratic State Committee Chairman John M. Lynch that the Democratic party "is falling apart

The Governor also parried questions by newsmen as to whether he felt that Lynch's statement, coming as it entailed in the diversion of Nuisance Brook in the town did from the head of the Democratic organization, was a proper one.

In view of the fact that the Democratic leader of the State Senate is out stumping the Commonwealth in oppo- conditions. sition to the Governor's sales tax bill and that the De cratic State Chairman has publicly accused His Excellency of letting his party fall apart at the seams, Mr. Furcolo's statement is somewhat remarkable.

One can only wonder what would have to happen to making public their differences.

The most reliable information now available is that foundations. the joint legislative committee on taxation will give an unfavorable report to the Governor's sales tax bill within the very near future. The present lineup in the committee is understood to course may be. be about 9-5 against the sales tax measures. Governor Furcolo and his aides have made all-out efforts to line up the Democratic members of the committee in support of members.

Unless there is a change in plans, the full-dress sales tax battle will be fought on the floor of the House within the next two weeks or so.

One member of the Furcolo staff who has done a tremendous job in trying to save the sales tax bill is popular James L. Vallely of West Roxbury, the Governor's legislative assistant. In this instance, however, the cards appear to be stacked against him. Vallely will be re- 10:00-3:00 Emerson Outgrown Shop, Newton Upper Falls. sponsible for lining up a large portion of the votes which are cast in favor of the sales tax.

Temporary Tax" Is A Misnomer

The legislative committee on taxation didn't cause even a ripple of excitement the other day when it brought in its favorable report giving another year's lease of life to the Commonwealth's temporary taxes and surtaxes.

It was just a perfunctory report. It concerned only a trifling matter—a mere $80,000,000 or $90,000,000 in tax imposts to be paid by Massachusetts taxpayers in the next

When those taxes went on the books there was quite a to-do. Members of the Legislature came up with some very warm arguments for and against them. The pros said the State needed the money—and—after all, they assured all and sundry, they were only temporary taxes.

That was years ago. The two temporary gadgets which help to make the chore of filling out that income tax return a little more difficult each year have been earning

And they are about as temporary as the Old Man of the Mountains or the Bunker Hill Monument.

Governor Furcolo himself even recommended in his budget message that the fraudulent tag on the taxes be removed and that the taxes frankly be made a "permanent" part of the crazy-quilt that makes the Commonwealth's

Even the committee on taxation betrayed a bit of redhicles which will not only resist the sharpest knife and faced embarrassment this year. It recommended the temporary taxes be continued for two years.

It's just the same old story. There's no such thing as a temporary tax. The sugar-coating called "temporary" is only the film that's placed on the measure when it's necessary to get legislative bodies to swallow it in the first

Demand for Higher Education To Be Future Political Issue

One question which is certain to plague Massachusetts Legislatures of the future is that of the demand for higher education.

The present Legislature, beset as it is by sales tax troubles, is not giving more than a once-over--lightly treatment to the several bills before it pertaining to that matter. The Governor in his inaugural-or what amounted to his inaugural address-placed due emphasis on the

During his campaign he pictured the doors of the institutions of higher learning as opening wide to everyone who desired to partake of their opportunities.

It's not going to be anything one Legislature or even a whole succession of Legislatures are going to solve without plenty of headaches. The problem of meeting the demand for higher education is certain to become a major issue in politics in the years ahead.

Right now top-level education is a big industry in Mas- 12:45 sachusetts. Perhaps, the State may make claim to being the nation's capital in the matter of college-university education. During the current academic year there were nearly 100 colleges operating in Massachusetts. They had a total enrollment of more than 50,000.

If any one of them wasn't afflicted with growing pains, we haven't heard of it. Most of them are looking to their alumni bodies, the state and federal governments and the public at large for a financial lift of one kind or another.

Most of the top-rated institutions are complaining that they are finding it more difficult every year to care for the influx of students who want to go to college.

Most are talking about expansion-and even with the biggest of the expansion programs—they are wondering whether they'll be large enough to handle the potential enrollments 10 or even five years hence.

Excutive Secretary Robert G. Kroepsch of the New England Regional Education Conference says his organization has found, by justified estimate, that the number of progressive students for whom places should be provided, will increase by more than 65 per cent in 10 years.

If anything like that happens, the most ambitious expansion program planned will be over-taxed.

Maybe, some cities and larger towns will begin study- was celebrant of the solemn ing the action of the City of Newton which established its own Junior College 12 years ago.

That school has flourished—with little or no expense to the taxpayer. It has proven itself a good school, one that could dole out higher learning on the junior college level with the best.

In 12 years it has established a fine reputation for itself. Now it's wondering about the skyrocketing cost of education along with the housewife who finds just about everything from hot dogs to roast beef continuing on an Paul Harrington of the North ascending curve.

Recently, officials of the school were considering whether they'd have to hike the tuition costs to Newton residents from the present $200 level to a higher figure. Even with an increase it would have no trouble filling its Rev. Thomas Fleming, S.J., ex-

Indeed, the time may not be too far off when the junior and senior colleges of the future will be found in the individual towns and cities-and operated by the towns and cities themselves.

Whatever the answer may be, it's a cinch that we're going to hear more and more of higher education from Beacon Hill every time our Legislature gets down to considering the problems of the people.

Nuisance Brook" Has Its Friends

A few days ago the Governor's Council placed its approval on a contract permitting the State Department of Public Works to spend $123,544 for construction work

As its name implies, Nuisance Brook isn't exactly a nice well-balanced little stream, especially in time of flood

Yet, it's a brook, and regardless of its reputation some people have loved it down through the years. And the same people who loved it have prevented it from getting any other name.

Only a few years ago, when some Back Bay newcomcause Governor Furcolo to believe that the Democrats were ers sought to change the name of Muddy River which wends its way through Boston's Back Bay, the indignant uproar almost made the Hub City Hall tremble on its old Older Back Bay residents expressed themselves as

It is a also in factories, stores, churcommon occurrence among low- ches, hotels, apartments and er animals, as exemplified by other places where people conthe stampede of a herd of cattle, and it might be said that when humans become panicky they no longer are thinking be-tings but have reverted to the that adequate exits, well placed, status of animals, whose only reaction is that of flight when unusual danger threatens.

Fear robs man of his reasoning power. History is full of catastrophies which have caused death and injury to persons when fear gripped a crowd. Whole armies have thrown down their arms and fled in disorder when a panic mastered a few and then was transmitted to the mass. It is this transmission of fear which must be prevented. To overcome it, rigid discipline and extensive training are used in armed forces, which accounts for the steadfastness of the veteran as compared with the recruit.

Fire as a possible cause of panic in our modern civilization always must be considered, particularly in connection with places where large numbers of people congregate. The cry of fire alone may not cause a stampede, especially if level-headed persons can assume control; but if, in addition, there is the glare

As a safe measure the matter of exits is the one first to come suitably marked and, preferably used for both entrance and exit, will go far towards giving a sense of security which will lessen the panic hazard.

Exits alone are not the anwer. Fires also produce toxic gases, so that even if people sit still and do not join in a mad cramble to leave the building, they may die by the score from the carbon monoxide produced; or they may be enveloped in flame and heated gases before they have a chance to move. Both of these conditions are ex-tremely likely where a fire occurs on the lower floor and there is an open stairway for the upward sweep of partially burned upper floor with a mass of flame and a heavy concentration of toxic gases.

Considering all features, the outstanding one is the amount of combustible material present and the quickness with which it will burn, and means of preventing or controlling a fire. The answer to the question of preventing panic therefore might well be summed up as follows, and it applies to every place where people crowd together:

Provide security of mind, which means make it visible to the eye or repeat it in print or otherwise until it is a subconscious reality, that the place is of a good and preferably fireproof type of construction; that there is little quick burning material; that where these conditions do not exist the place is protected by automatic sprinklers; that adequate well-marked exits exist; and last but not

Fine Jewelry - Watch, Clock And Silver Repairing

We are pleased to announce that, in October, we expect to be set up in our new location on Centre St., Newton Centre, to continue as Newton's leading Jewelers and Silversmiths. Our new store will be closer to the center of our customers' shopping tours. In order to move as little of our present inventory as possible, and to start with as much fresh stock as we can, we are making unusually large reductions on most of our usual inventory from June 7 - June 22. Such items as glassware and giftware will be sold at far below cost and in some instances, in order to move odds and ends, no reasonable offer will be refused. Examples of closeout prices on crystal, where perhaps only a few dozen pieces in a pattern remain, regularly $36.00 doz., reduced to $15.00; Sterling Silver Pins, regularly $1.95 to $4.95, only $1.00. Other Costume Jewelry, as much as 75% to 80% off.

Silverware, in all cases where the manufacturer does not prohibit, will be reduced also, but Fair Trade items are excluded, yet there is a great deal to choose from.

Come in and browse around, because such closeouts come only rarely. When we move, we want as much new and fresh merchandise as we can have.

Hoping to see you frequently from June 7-22, as well as always when you need a jeweler, I am

A. J. C. Survey inNewtonSchools

Moral and spiritual values in Newton public schools are incorporated "in the universal concepts of honesty, loyalty, truthfulness, etc.," rather than in a survey conducted by the at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel. American Jewish Congress.

The survey was conducted by the Lcuise Waterman Wise Chapter of the A.J.C., through 11 members of its law and social action commission. About one-third of the city's school system was studied and the superintendent of schools and 10 of the elementary, junior high and high school principals were interviewed. "It appears," the report said,

"that religious observations and practices (holiday celebra-tions, Bible readings, etc.) are left to the discretion of the principals, and in some cases to the teachers. Their decisions are usually based on the religious composition in their respective schools."

The survey, one of a number to be conducted throughout the nation, are instituted here by the Commission on Community Interrelations of the A.J.C., in cooperation with the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston. One area in the Newton schools survey, said the report, where the jurisdiction of the teachers prevail, is in the visit-ing of churches and synagogues. It was found that four schools provided such trips. "In two of the schools, clergymen have helped plan assem-bly programs. The only direct discussion of religion occurred in the junior high and high schools in the social studies program, where for a week or so religion is studied as one phase of the general cultural pattern."

"None of the schools," says the report, "have a program of common core' teachings (which bring to students the similar concepts of various religions in its curriculum"

The difficulty of pleasing all parents was noted, "some feeling that the school is atheistic if there is no religion at all, and other parents wanting a sharp division between church and State.

"The overall feeling conveyed is that religion, being part of the child's heritage and culture, cannot be separated completely from the schools, however idealistic it may be, since the child brings religion to the schools as part of his total experience." Co-directors of the survey were Mrs. Michael Hoffman and Mrs. Saul Hirshberg. They are, respectively, co-chairman and chairman of the chapter's Commission. Others on the survey team include: Mmes. Harold Polan, Alvin Cohen, Harry Berley, Harold Horne, Edward Glasser, Morris Zallen, Martin Green, Eii Feldman (chapter president) and Arthur Greger

A goal of $36,101 was an nounced this week by Mrs. Ed ward Huber, chairman, of Wa-ban, who added further that the campaign would be conducted through the mails.

She stated that letters are being sent to every family and individual living in Newton in an all-out effort to raise the funds needed to maintain over 30 social welfare agencies in the Greater Boston area. These include a modern club for servicemen and a Summer camp for 2000 underprivileged children.

Twenty percent of the money collected goes into the Neighborhood Committee, made up of local residents, to be used for immediate aid in time of need.

Every year the Salvation Army helps over 120,000 men, women and children in this area, without regard for their race, creed or national origin. Over-all goal for the 1957 pressed in the Hospital's last annual report in which he "One of the satisfactions of Jim has my . . . enouragement in the accomplishment of important tasks and in the empyrean pleasure of working in such a unique hospital in such a goodly company of ex-cellent scholars."

Dr. Dealy's . service encompasses an extensive program of training resident physicians and research fellows from other localities and other countries, which has resulted in a network of Brigham trained radiologists throughout the world. There is also a year-round training school for X-ray technicians.

The first hospital to introduce under Dr. Sosman's leadership the weekly X-ray Teachng Conferences as a hospital function rather than strictly departmental activity, the Tuesday X-ray Conferences held in the main amphitheater have become popular events for clini-cians from all branches of medicine in the care of patients. Report Urges That Duties Of Teachers Be Lessened

A recommendation that clerical workers be hired to lighten the burden on teachers in the Newton school system, was made to the School Committee this week by Dr. A. Lawrence Anderson of the Newton High School faculty.

His plan, if adopted, would relieve teachers of much of the paper work they are now called upon to perform, of such individuals will be trained in the art and science of corbunits.

The suggestion was based on a survey conducted by Dr. Anderson, a social studies teacher, and about 100 other persons, including both school officials and citizens outside the educational field.

The results of their survey showed that many teachers work 50 hours a week or longer and often are burdened with routine, non - technical duties which could be delegated to clerical workers.

Greatness Is Never Achieved Suddenly!

It has long been true, in the affairs of men, that only time can confirm the gift of greatness.

Artist, statesman, writer, craftsman-each must await the years for the maturity of his talent and for the verdict of his judges.

And as it is in the affairs of men, so it is in the world of commerce. Nothing great was ever created suddenly-whether the product be that of an individual or of an organization.

Here, most certainly, is the very genesis of the unique position which Cadillac currently occupies in the hearts and minds of the world's motorists.

Since the first Cadillac car made its appearance more than fifty-five years ago, it has always been ereated to a single objective: to make it as fine a motor car as it is possible to produce. And, without question, the mission and the accomplishment have been one and the same.

The goodness of Cadillac has, in fact, been so apparent over that lengthy span that the Cadillac name stands today as an accepted synonym for quality wherever highways exist.

The pretenders have come-and they have gone. For time is an exacting taskmaster-and only the principles that have created the great Cadillac car and only the devotion that has given it being have been equal to the challenge.

Never has this fact been more deeply etched in the public consciousness than it is during the present automotive year.

If you have yet to take the wheel of a 1957 Cadillac, you should hesitate no longer to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer.

Waiting for you in his showroom is proof beyond doubt that Cadillac is-in fact as in reputation-the Standard of the World!

1957's Graduates

In old tolleges — with trees grown stately with the years. In new colleges — seeking to blend the latest in construction material with the architectural concepts of the ancient Greeks .

In crowded high school auditoriums . . . on the campus greens of prep schools . .

Names were called. Prizes were distributed. Speakers sought to give a new meaning to old truths.

Proud parents sat and watched. If their eyes glistened, the tears were the unslated tears of happiness, the unbidden tears of a pride well-earned.

Thus, as in a long procession of Junes another commencement season came. Almost without exception the graduating classes were larger than ever before. Almost without exception young graduates walked away from their alma maters certain there was a place in the world

In today's highly competitive world there is a place for the trained — for the educated. Indeed, in the colorful class days, the solemn baccalaureates, the dignified distribution of diplomas, degrees awarded there was something more than another commencement - another graduation

In that army of hopeful young men and young wo men - wherever they gathered in the days of June, 1957 rests much of the hope of the United States and the world.

Easy-Money Boys on Prowl

"I just happened to be passing by and I noticed one of your trees has been hit with the ambilactavaridius bug. Now that's gonna spread all over your property. We can the whole property . . ."

"We were in the neighborhood. Doin' a job on the other street over there-noticed your chimney needs repointing. We got all the equipment in the truck. Only

"Passin' by, ma'am. Been doing a lot of work on heaters out this way. This is the time of the year to check, ya know. We could give your furn a good cleaning—save ya lots of money next winter..."

Those are only a few of the "pitches."

The housewife who goes for the phoney spraying deal is apt to find out she's parted with $6 to get a spray job inaugural address on the day last January when he for ridius or whatever the man said.

The householder who lets the stranger and his "helpers" go to work on the chimney learns to his dismay that the pointing was poorly and inexpertly done. The easily sold "furnace-check" job can prove to be disaster when the man of the house comes home to find Massachusetts and what should be done to make it a betthe central heating plant completely dismantled. His wife has fallen for the old gag about it being so dangerous the strange visitors wouldn't even try to put it together again. They'd be honest with her and sell her a new heating plant the family didn't need; one that would run up enormous fuel bills and prove altogether inadequate. This is the time of the year when "con-men" posing as honest workmen are invading residential areas with some glib tongues and a capacity for picking up a harvest of easy dollars. Police warn against them. The Boston Better Business Bureau and similar organizations all over the country warn about them. But each year the harvest goes on.

The victims are housewives who could spot a bad bargain on a counter six aisles away in a crowded base- pronouncement that the law-makers were doing what he ment sale-but just forget all rules of common sense when it's "something to improve the house."

The victims are hard-headed businessmen who could put their index fingers on two words in the fine print of fared during its first five months under Furcolo's brand a contract and save a costly mistake many times in the of leadership? course of a business day.

The victims are people who forget to think.

Local police authorities and Better Business Bureaus are joining once again in warning against those bargains, the unknown itinerant offers at the door.

They are pointing out that it's dangerous to do busiwith someone you don't know; someone you've never heard about. They are pointing out that it's best to do business with established firms—such as you find advertising in with established firms—such as you find advertising in the pages of this newspaper.

They are pointing out that if you do business with a stranger-it is smart to check his credentials; to check with the police or the Better Business Bureau or the Chamber of Commerce or at least someone you know. It can save you money and regrets.

Watch out! This is the time those easy-money boys are prowling nice residential districts seeking "a fast

While Furcolo is looking back upon the four years of Herter rule, the people of Massachusetts, five months ing for him to do one progressive thing for the betterment of the Commonwealth.

The honeymoon of the Furcolo administration is over, if indeed, there was any period that could properly be termed a honeymoon. More than a fifth of his gubernatorial term has passed into history. It, therefore, seems fair to sit down now and assess what he has accomplished in next year's State election are Attorney General George spray that tree in a jiffy ma'am. Only cost about $6 for in that time, what he has done and what he has started to do.

The answer is—Practically Nothing. As ex-Governor Paul A. Dever probably would put it in one of his oratorical flights if the present Governor were a Republican, all this administration on Beacon Hill has to show for five months of sweat and strain is a big

The bright promises made in last fall's campaign of all the good things to come, if Foster Furcolo were elected Governor, are forgotten refrains of a distant past.

on her property — that's probably worthless. And she learns, too, that there's no such bug as the ambilactava-heriting a "mess". If he did inherit a "mess," as he claimed, it's still a

"mess," because he certainly hasn't changed or corrected

In his election campaign last autumn, Furcolo was brimming over with ideas about what was wrong with

Now in June, however, he's still waiting for his socalled Commission on the Audit of State Needs to tell him what he should do.

Investigation! The word must give the shivers to the few real political pros around Furcolo.

The Governor bungled his way into one investigation of why two members of the State Milk Control Commission had the audacity to rule against a client whom he, Foster Furcolo, represented as attorney. He finally floundered out again after discovering that he was getting into muddy political waters over his head.

He undertook to chastise the Legislature for not doing what he wanted it to do on his budget and then backed gingerly out of that conflict with the strange but solemn asked them to do-a statement which only those with the most elastic of imaginations were able to swallow.

How has the Democratic party in Massachusetts

Democratic State Committee Chairman John M. Lynch declared publicly that under Furcolo's magic touch the Democratic party was coming apart at the seams. For a time it appeared that the State's penal system also was coming apart at the seams along with the Democratic party.

Public leaders throughout Metropolitan Boston have been endeavoring without success to ascertain where Governor Furcolo stands on several momentous matters, including the extension of the toll road into Boston.

They haven't been able to learn what Furcolo thinks much less what he's going to do.

It's an old trick in politics to cover up your own inadequacies by demanding an investigation of the other

But if there are going to be any more probes, there are matters in much more pressing need of investigation and exposure to the public scrutiny than any of the construction projects undertaken while Christian A. Herter

Lively Battle for Governor Seen as Lodge Steps Out

UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge's declaration after the present Governor assumed office, are still wait- that he will not stand for election to any public office next year probably will touch off a spirited contest for the Republican nomination for Governor. There will not, of course, be any rush of contenders for the GOP endorse ment for U.S. Senator.

At this time the potential candidates for the right to carry the Republican banner against Governor Furcolo Fingold of Concord, GOP State Committee Chairman Charles Gibbons of Stoneham, former Governor's Councillor Bruce Crane of Dalton, Congressman Laurence A. Herter, Jr., of Newton and former Lieutenant Governor Sumner G. Whittier of Everett.

Whittier is included in the list. Don't count him out too an administrator with the Veterans' Administration in Washington. Politics is his chosen profession. Whittier might not be interested in returning to the political wars next year; or he might have to settle for a place on the Republican ticket below that of Governor. Our long-distance guess would be that Whittier will be in the thick of the contention at the GOP convention 12 months from now. Considerable support for Congressman Curtis as a possible candidate for Governor was expressed among the guests at the recent Republican fund-raising dinner.

Curtis has been devoting himself to his congressional duties and has given no indication that he will be an active candidate for his party's gubernatorial nomination.

However, Curtis not only is strong in the same district from which Christian A. Herter jumped to the Governorship, but he has demonstrated in the past that he also can poll votes across the State.

He was elected State Treasurer in 1946, made a potent bid for the Lieutenant Governorship in 1950 and might well have been elected if he had a stronger running mate at the head of the State ticket. Curtis was a candidate for Governor in 1952 when Herter decided to run for the Governorship, causing him to shift his plans and bid for Herter's seat on Capitol Hill.

The likelihood is that Curtis will sit back and await developments before announcing his political plans for

Attorney General Fingold has not officially announced himself a candidate for Governor, but the blast he levelled at Governor Furcolo's administration during the Republican dinner was considered by his listeners as almost equivalent to a declaration that he will be in the gubernatorial field.

It would be surprising if Fingold does not set his gunsights on the Governor's chair. He is now serving his third term as Attorney General. He is the only Republican office-holder at the State-wide level who survived last fall's election. He presumably is desirous of promotion to higher office, and the GOP prospects of regaining the Governorship in 1958 seem reasonably bright at this point.

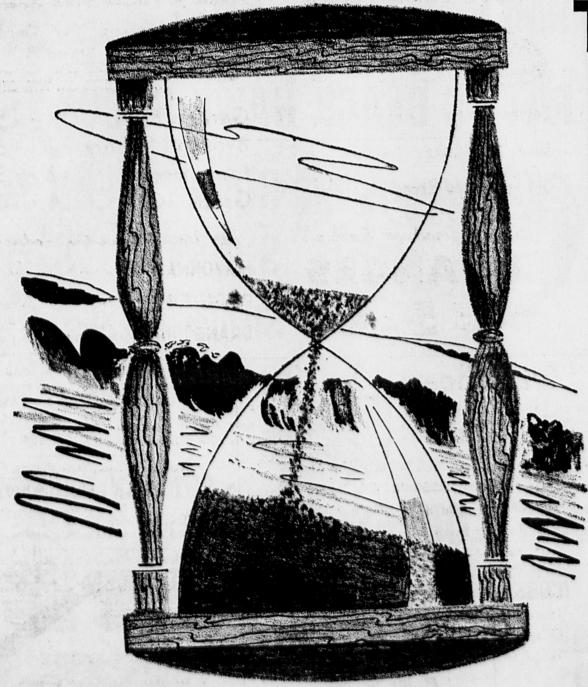

From the standpoint of being able to woo delegates to next year's Republican State convention, GOP State Chairman Gibbons is strategically positioned. The very nature of the post he holds places him in contact with the party members who will do the voting at the preprimary conclave.

Gibbons necessarily would resign from the State Chairmanship before announcing his candidacy for the Governorship. But as he goes about the State rebuilding the political fences of his party, he also is indirectly building his own prospects. Whether he will undertake to capitalize on them is something only time will deter-

The tall, lanky, pleasant-mannered Gibbons, highly popular with the rank and file of party workers, is a former Speaker and Republican Leader of the House of Representatives, an able orator and a good campaigner. He has been badly handicapped by the lack of funds in his work at the head of the State Committee.

Crane was the man former State Committee Chairman Elmer C. Nelson sought to persuade to challenge Whittier for the Republican nomination for Governor last year. Crane declined to make the fight and instead retired from politics to devote himself to his paper business in Dalton.

He would be able to battle Furcolo step by step in the latter's own Western Massachusetts stronghold, but Curtis of the Back Bay, Governor's Councillor Christian he is not particularly well known in the eastern end of the State where the bulk of the votes are concentrated. A long campaign would be necessary to familiarize the It may come as a surprise to some readers that voters with his name and his qualifications. Crane also is not quite as formidable a candidate out of office as he quickly. He's a stronger vote-getter than last fall's elected would be if he had remained in the Governor's Council and thus had a political sounding board.

trustees will advocate He asserted that he would want to hear the evidence in support of the proposed fare rise before making his decision. One of the questions that is troubling Mayor Whitmore as whether the MTA fares already have reached the point of diminishing returns.

Officials in some sections, it is reported, are willing to go along with a fare boost if it would cut down the MTA deficit which must be met from real estate tax levies.

Some authorities feel, how ever, that another 5-cent fare hike might result in so substantial a drop in patronage that the well as officials in other com-increase would not serve the munities, it is understood, is purpose for which it is intended.

Everybody knows you get more miles for your money on the MTA. More and more people these days are surprised to discover just how much you save by riding the MTA. When you add gasoline and parking costs to wear and tear on your car . . . you find it's not pennies but dollars per week you save by going MTA. Intown MTA stations are handy to everything . . . offices, shopping areas, amusements - all over town.

For local trips you pay only 15¢ per ride. For 20¢ you can ride anywhere in 14 MTA communities. Plenty of room in nonrush hours, or on Saturdays and Sundays. Go the MTA way and save money.

How soon the Highland Branch issue will be placed before the MTA Advisory Council comprised of the officials of the 14 communities served by the transit system is uncertain. It has not yet been decided whether the Advisory Council will postpone its consideration of the matter until after the B&A's petition for the right to abandon the branch line has been acted upon by the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington.

Mayor Whitmore today enumerated a number of objections to the entire proposition.

"In the first place, I think they are paying altogether too much money," Whitmore asserted.

"To pay the B&A $600,000, if it is as bad off as it says it is, is ridiculous," Whitmore explained. The Mayor added that he was informed some time ago that the B&A was willing to lease the line for $15,000 a year.

He said it is "very, very ques ionable now that a rapid transit line over the Highland Branch would be self-supporting.

"I am convinced that for the next few years the line would not have enough passengers to operate in the black," Whitmore declared. "That means that all the 14 cities and towns must whatever deficit is in

Mayor Whitmore expressed the conviction that a thorough study should have been made of the entire proposition by a competent outside engineering

He also indicated he was at a loss to understand how the Legislature could justify passthe Highland Branch bill without obtaining more information than it did.

"The MTA should have been required to tell the Legislature and the Department of Public Utilities exactly where they proposed to establish parking ities, if any, along the route and what disposition they intended to make of properties such as railroad stations along the think the big question which arises in regard to the whole matter," Whitmore asserted, "is that if the MTA figures to draw sufficient passengers and revenue to operate at a $200,000 profit, as it is claimed, why is the railroad losing $150,000 a year?" "If the potential is there, the railroad should be made to op-erate a reasonable service," Whitmore added.

"If the B&A did that, I believe it could increase its own revenue and cut down its losses. Whitmore added that it seems strange that the B&A does not make a drive for increased patronage in an attempt to put its own line in the black. "Lastly," the Mayor said, "this is a component and a facor in the transportation picture of the entire Greater Boston area which should be put into a careful, coordinated study. "It cannot be separated from the problem of the toll road ex-tension to Boston and whatever associated mass transportation facilities will remain in the form of railroad or MTA service along the main road of the

"Right now we have no idea what the whole picture is,"

Whitmore stated. Other Newton officials expressed the opinion that the MTA may be blundering into the Highland Branch situation without having all the facts and information concerning the picture it is entering. They asserted that if Governor Furcolo signs the MTA bill, as it has has been indicated he will, he must necessarily assume a measure of responsibility for what happens after the MTA takes over the Highland Branch registrants apply.

With Mrs. Mabel B. Worth, present director, retiring, the close of the school year marks the end of an era. In September, Mrs. Mary Lenom will take over as new director and she has many plans for expansion and further development along the lines laid down by the present administration.

Arthur Muldoon who appeared for the petitioner, Elsie Coffin, declared that the 10,000foot lots would be as large as many in the area. He argued that the existing dwellings in the neighborhood are not the type that would be built on 15. 000-foot lots.

Louis Levenson of 39 Wheelr road, supported the petition, sserting that the lots in that 12,400 feet. He said builders will not buy 15,000-foot lots in and broadcast reports. He delivered the letter to the Governor's office in person — to make sure it reached His Excellency.

That was May 20. Senator Gibbs is still awaiting an answer. So are the people of the Commonwealth. So, too, are the people of Newton. The Governor has a knack of unswering a direct question with an indirect answer that sometimes has nothing to do with the subject matter of the direct question. In this case he didn't even employ that knack.

In this instance, he preferred to ignore Senator Gibbs - and incidentally — the people of Newton and the people of the commonwealth as well.

Here is Senator Gibbs' letter: Dear Governor Furcolo:

Statements in a Boston newspaper and over a local television station on Sunday May 19th were such that I believe they call for a full and complete answer on the part of the Execu-tive branch of our Commonwealth.

It was stated that Chairman Callahan of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority would throw his support and influence to the Sales tax program, in return for your approval of his toll road extension into downtown Boston.

It is impossible for me to believe that you would use the high office of Governor in this manner, or become a party to any such "deal" as outlined.

Confusion is reigning in this whole matter of the extension of the toll road. Vital road programs are being held - Planning can not go forward on many Department of Public Work projects as well as those of the Metropolitan District Commission. The City of Newton, which proudly counts you among its residents, is perhaps faced with the worst impact, for its citizens are confronted with the very loss of their homes, increased taxes through loss of substantial valuation and a traffic hazard that surely will strangle our streets. This very dagger that is pointed through the heart of Newton, must we realize be accepted, but we ask your earnest con-sideration of the route least damaging to our fair city and its inhabitants. Please also remember that toll roads are on their way out due to the Federal highway act so that the benefits of a freeway would accrue to all citizens traveling West of Boston.

Time is running out - to the point where may I request that you as Governor of this great Commonwealth, tell the many thousands of people living in this area, your views on this controversial extension. Do you favor a toll road or a freeway? Are you willing to approve the Boston & Albany R. line route as suggested and demanded by Mr. Callahan? Would you approve some modified plan of the so called Western expressway contained in the Master Highway plan of 1948?

Your considered opinion on this whole vital subject can go a long way in clearing away the pall which hangs like a heavy cloud over this city and its citizens.

s/ Donald L. Gibbs Massachusetts has to go back to Calvin Coolidge to find a really silent Governor. Down through the years its Chief Executives of both parties - regardless of the party - have been pretty articulate, particularly on matters of prime importance for the people they served.

And Silent Cal could always be very articulate on a major matter. There was never any question of how Coolidge stood on any legislative subject of major concern.

Governor Furcolo has been a bit too coy on some matters; a bit too talkative on others. He'll find as he matures politically that there are times when silence isn't golden.

FACTS ABOUT

Direct Distance Dialing

STARTS SUNDAY, JUNE

WHO GETS DDD SUNDAY?

Next Sunday all dial telephone customers in the Boston Directory Area will enjoy Direct Distance Dialing to 120 communities in Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

WHEN WILL NEEDHAM GET DDD?

Dial telephone service is scheduled for Needham in December of this year. At that time, this fast, convenient, long distance dialing service will be available to Needham customers in addition to the benefits of local dial service.

WHEN YOU USE A DIAL TELEPHONE

In the meantime, if you have occasion to make a dialable long distance call from a dial telephone (except from coin telephones), please refer to the Instruction Booklet there, and note these important points.

1. What is the Magic "1-1"?

"1-1" is the area code for the 120 communities in Massachusetts and in Rhode Island you can dial direct. Remember, always dial "1" twice before you dial the regular number.

2. Dial Only "Station-to-Station"

Only those calls on which you talk to anyone who answers may be dialed. All other calls must be handled by operators.

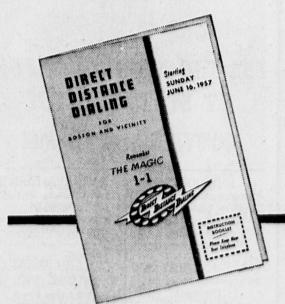

3. Where You Can Dial

You can dial any number in the Boston Telephone Directory, and to about 120 other places in Eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

4. Give YOUR Number to the Operator

When the Operator asks for your number, give her the number of the telephone you are using.

5. If You Need Assistance, Dial "Operator"

House Inspections To Start By Monday

Abandon Search For Flier From Chestnut Hill

Announcement was made this week that the California Civil Air Patrol was abandoning the search it had been carrying on for Stanwood Gray Wellington, 36, formerly of Chestnut Hill. Since his disappearance June

9 on a flight between Santa Barbara and Los Angeles abbard his Cessna 180, an intensive search had been pressed for him under direction of the Fourth Air Force. More than 20 private planes along with the CAP were used in an air hunt over the region where he disappeared.

- WELLINGTON -(Continued on Page 2) Next Monday has been tentatively set as the start-ing date for the street-by-street and house-by-house inspection to be made by members of the Newton fire de-partment in a search for fire hazards which can be corrected and eliminated.

Attempt to Place Sales Tax on Ballot Serious Blow to Furcolo

Governor Furcolo's political advisers are seriously disturbed about two recent developments.

The first is the increasing amount of talk among a large group of Democrats concerning the possibility of entering a candidate against Furcolo in the gubernatorial primary a year from September.

The second—and perhaps more important—is the announced intention of leaders in the Massachusetts Federation of Labor to place a sales tax referendum on the ballot in the 1958 election in the event that the Governor's bill is enacted into law.

Either move would injure Furcolo's chances of winning reelection to a second term.

No competent political observer believes there is any real likelihood that Furcolo would be defeated for renomination in next year's Democratic primary. Such a happening would be a repudiation by the Democratic voters of

Police have been requested by Water Commissioner Mark F. Crocker to enforce the ban.

Residents in the area affected who are observed watering their lawns during that three-hour period will be directed by police to turn off their hoses.

This restriction will remain in force until the construc-tion of a new 12-inch water main from the Worcester Turnpike to the Dedham street area is completed and placed in use.

The Summer Hazard's Worse

There'll be no regular traffic director posted near the schools during the weeks ahead. If you are "a regular" along streets which take you past schoolhouses in the morning, at school lunch-time and in mid-afternoon when school classes end, you'll quickly recognize that fact.
Whether you're a "regular" or not the temptation will be to speed up a little. You'll be able to make up for those minutes lost during the fall, winter and spring months when you had to slow down—obey the orders of the traffic director, make certain some youngster doesn't pop out into the street.

You might be able to pick up as much as a total of five minutes, maybe, between now and the resumption of school in the fall.

Are five minutes worth a human life? Are five minutes worth the tragedy that comes when a boy or girl is struck down and killed on the highways?

Police Chiefs Philip Purcell and Thomas H. Welch of the Newton and Needham police departments were discussing the problems of traffic the other day. They came to agreement that the matter of child safety in the summer time on our highways was of greater concern than it was when schools were in session.

"You know where they are in the school year," said one of the chiefs. "In the summer the children can pop on to the street anywhere." That follows, too.

Our schools, with the help of trained police, do an excellent job in teaching the young the need for safety precautions in crossing streets.

But when summer rolls around there's no guarantee those lessons will stick. There's an errant ball to chase. There's that freedom of movement which goes hand in hand with a let-down in discipline-in this case the end of regular school class work.

Statistics show that more American children are killed on our streets during the summer months than at any other time during the year.

The responsibility of every operator of a motor vehicle-whether it's a huge trailer truck or the smallest passenger car on the highway-is great.

If every man and woman who assumes the responsibility of the steering wheel realizes the extent of that responsibility they'll "Watch out for the kids" as they move over our streets this summer.

If they do, no child's life will be heedlessly sacrificed hereabouts before the coming of another year.

Political Overtones

was the last chief State executive to be rejected by his own party when he stood for renomination. He was defeated in 1938 by James M. Curley who, in turn, lost the election to Leverett Saltonstall.

Even though Furcolo were to win a primary fight and win it handily, however, it could still jeopardize his prospects of achieving another term on Beacon Hill and battle for a seat in the U.S. Senate in 190

That statement may seem somewhat inconsistent because one of the reasons Furcolo won election last year was that his primary victory swept him out in front of Sumner G. Whittier while the latter, unopposed for nomination, was marking time and waiting for the preliminary skirmishing to be concluded. Furcolo, however, is now confronted with an altogether different set of circumstances than faced him in 1956. He no longer needs the buildup that last year's primary triumph provided for him. He desperately needs to show something approaching solid support in his party.

What a Democratic gubernatorial primary contest next year would do would be to give Democratic voters an opportunity to cast a "protest vote" against Furcolo.

A reasonably attractive candidate who campaigned against Furcolo on the sales tax issue undoubtedly would roll up a substantial vote against him. A contender of the stamp of State Senator John E. Powers would have pretty nearly an even chance of defeating Furcolo.

There is no likelihood whatever that Powers will yield to the arguments of those seeking to persuade him to run for Governor next year. He is waiting for Boston's 1959 mayoralty election, and he has kept carefully aloof from the faction which is promoting a primary opponent human kingdom which has its against Furcolo.

A primary campaign involving Furcolo in which the sales tax was an issue would place Powers in an awkward position and probably cause him to remain neutral and out of the contest. In view of his own stand on the sales tax, it hardly would be consistent for him to campaign against a candidate who was opposing Furcolo on the sales

Aside from the blow which a big primary protest vote would deliver to Furcolo's prestige, the arguments directed at the voters in such a campaign, particularly if it assumed rough and tumble proportions, would be almost certain to soften Furcolo up for the vital election battle.

You may be very sure that the Furcolo lieutenants want no part of a primary conflict and would do everything within their power to avoid it, including throwing every possible obstacle in the path of the Democratic candidate seeking to get on the primary ballot against the present Governor

The threat by AFL leaders to force a referendum on the sales tax question if Governor Furcolo succeeds in thee?" I cannot see how any placing the tax on the books has extremely serious implications from Furcolo's standpoint. For all practical purposes it means that he can't win,

Needless to say, if the labor groups are concentrating their efforts a year from this autumn on attempting Of Myron Lee Wasserman to obtain the repeal of a sales tax law, they aren't going to do much work to bring about Furcolo's reelection.

However, Furcolo looks at it, the picture is not a particularly encouraging one.

As matters stand today, the odds are still against the sales tax bill unless Furcolo agrees to accept the tax on Republican terms. He is unlikely to do that, and a majority of the GOP legislators will vote against the sales tax bill unless he does so.

Furcolo himself has done some effective work in lining up Democratic legislators behind his sales tax measure. Through the use of his patronage power he has made more progress than it was expected he could. But the indications are that he has not been able to marshal a majority of the Democrats behind the measure. Only a small percentage of the Republicans will vote for the bill in its

Our guess right now is that unless Furcolo consents to the substitution of a different measure as proposed by the Republican leadership, the bill will be defeated in the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives.

Disney Epic in Embassy Premiere

"Johnny Tremain," Walt Dis ney's latest feature-length production, will receive its New England premiere at the Embassy Theatres in Waltham, Newton and West Newton, for one entire week beginning Wednesday, June 26.

A vivid technicolor film of Boston just prior to and during the American Revolution, Disney's historical epic is based on the famed novel of Esther Forbes which relates the part teen-agers played in America's fight for freedom in the turbulent 1770's.

Such great names as Paul Revere, Samuel Adams, John Hancock, Dr. Joseph Warren and James Otis are paraded before the camera in a tale that begins in Boston in 1773 and includes the Boston Tea Party and the battles of Lexington and Concord, Heading a large cast are Hal Stalmaster, Luana Patten, and Jeff York.

A civilized individual has tolerance for all people, but he se-lects his iriends.

THANKS TO HIS BUSINESS LOAN

Not long ago, this local independent businessman faced a common problem: How to modernize his company to overcome rising costs and still get his share of the increasing market. It would take more money than he could afford. Where was he to get it? Fortunately, he stopped in at his neighborhood office of the Newton-Waltham Bank and talked with the commercial loan expert. Today, his business is doing better than he had expected-and he's paying off his loan on the convenient plan which his confidential advisor at the Bank worked out for him. This advisor can do the same for you. You'll find him at your nearby office.

GREAT CHURCHMAN CONDEMNS EXPERIMENTS ON LIVING ANIMALS

The late Cardinal Gibbons, one of the most notable figures in the history of the Roman Catholic Church in America. He was affiliated with two Anti-Vivisection Societies.

He Wrote:

"I have always entertained an abhorrence towards unnecessary cruelty to dumb animals in the interest of science. It is doubtful to my mind that scientific men are warranted in inflicting this cruelty and that the advancement of science justifies it. I do not think that the promotion of scientific knowledge has been such as to justify this cruelty.

"It affords me pleasure to invoke a blessing on the good cause—the cause of anti-vivisection, which had the warm approval of the late Cardinal

The reports of the experimenters in such publications as the American Journal of Physiology prove that vivisection is as cruel today as in Cardinal

Furthermore, the evil practice has immensely increased since then.

Newton's Sealer of Weights and Measures, J. Ellis Bowen, was an active participant the recent 42nd Annual National Conference on Weights and Measures in Washington, D. C., largest gathering of its kind in the country.

Mr. Bowen attended the various committee meetings within the session, among them that of the Committee on Edu cation which he addressed on the value of acquainting mer chants, manufacturers and the public with the purpose of the weights and measures administration.

Quoting to the Committee from his annual report for 1956, Mr. Bowen illustrated with statistics the economic weight or measure is the equivalent of receiving counterequal importance to how much

As a specific example he stated that a deficiency of one measuring cup in each five gallon delivery of Newton's 300 Elizabeth road in Stoneham. gasoline pump meters during a year would cheat purchasers of over $100,000. On the other hand, the tab for overdelivery of the pumps in the same amount would fall on the Newton gasoline dealers. Bowen also pointed out that the Weights and Measures department is the protector of public economy at all levels of society in a community and that in Newton it has been maintained during the past year at a net cost to the taxpayer of only $4,387.17, or about 5 cents per capita.

"It is obvious that this inover, by way of assurance of accuracy in quantity determinations, in savings and service to both merchants and con-sumers," he concluded.

Women Voters League Pushes Planning Fight

The Newton League of Women Voters is continuing to press its fight for professional city planning services, Mrs. Lindbergh avenue, West Newton, entertained about 30 mem-elected president of the Newton ton League of Voters, made it plain in reporting to the new Board of Directors.

"To keep Newton a city that sert and bridge party was held will continue to be pleasant to for the benefit of the Newton live in and, at the same time, be attractive to industry, there must be one man or a planning Alice Kennedy, Dean of Wo. staff capable of resolving this men of the Junior College who conflict," Mrs. Greenberg stated. "Our present unpaid board", she said, "has rendered excelford Mooney, Chairman of the could in the future continue to Education Committee of the act in an advisory capacity. They are, however, busy professional men, unable to devote full time to the problems of over-all planning.

"This," Mrs. Greenberg added, "also applies to the various city department heads who must, of necessity, devote their greatest efforts to running their individual departments".

Mrs. Greenberg said that at its annual meeting in 1954, the League adopted as a study item "measures to promote efficiency and economy in the executive branch of the city government". The study was to have "possible emphasis on" the functions of the Planning Board, the Board of Assessors, Central Purchasing Agent, the Personnel Department and the Public Works Department. As a result of this study. she reported League members agreed in 1955 to support the strengthening of the Planning Board with emphasis on professional direction." Their reasons for this were not only the rapid growth of the city but the fact that, because of its size, many of its problems were comparable to those of a large

Mrs. Greenberg said there was also urgent need for overall future planning to ensure the wise use of the relatively small amount of free land still available. It was also felt that the physical as well as the financial planning for the city needed careful consideration, she explained.

Furcolo Is Sure To Be Hurt In Battle Over Judges Bill

Governor Furcolo seems to have a faculty for inolving himself in fights in which he is certain to be hurt olitically, whether he wins or loses

A shining example is provided by the battle over the ill which would give Furcolo the right to appoint six addiional judges to the Massachusetts Superior Court.

It will be another blow to his already damaged and dented prestige if the measure eventually is defeated.

Some of the highlights of the home inspections and their purposes outlined by Chief Perkins are as follows:

"The ever-present goal is to save lives. Throughout the nation we are losing 13,000 lives each year, through fires." Chief Perkins points out. "Many of the victims are babies and small children. Most of these losses are needless. "Property loss is the second item of interest to the fire de-partment," the chief continued. "In this type of program hazards which may have existed for long periods can be pointed out and definite action taken for everyone's safety.

"In a large number of fires records were made and it was pointed out that very people realized what conditions would cause a fire.

"These conditions will be pointed out. This program is definitely an educational proj-ect in which the fire department in our country to follow."

Chief Perkins stressed the hope that Newton would accept this program and lead the way to a fire free community.

It was pointed out by both Mr. Lyons and Chief Perkins that fires of electric origin are mounting. This is due in part to new electrical devices being placed on old services, over-loading electric outlets and placing the wrong size fuses in overloaded circuits. . When fuses continue to burn out an experienced electrician should be called in to make a survey of the electric service and make the necessary corrections for everyone's safety.

Oil burners are also at the head of the list for fire calls. Many of these calls are due directly to lack of being cleaned and serviced regularly. This should be done at least once a year by a reputable company.

Permits are required for the storage of all fuel oils, a copy of which must be posted or available before the delivery of oil can be made. Failure to secure a permit for oil storage could lead to serious consequences especially in the event of a fire.

Let The Army Build It

Nahanton street is no boulevard.

Compared with some of those super-highways Mr. William F. Callahan is building for the Toll Road Authority it isn't much better than one of those log roads you encounter up in Maine.

Even compared with Kendrick street, its continuation on the Needham side of the line, it rates a definite second-best listing.

Recently, it drew the complaint of our fine neighbor, Needham. Needham officials think something ought to be done about making old Nahanton street a more popular road-one with nice shoulders, a hard surfaced job which tires can really grip.

Now, the U.S. Army has got into the act.

As you'll read in THE GRAPHIC's adjacent news columns this week the Army doesn't think much of Na- selves. hanton street, either.

Our Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., likes good, safe roads. If he had his way every road—big or small; important or secondary—would be of the very best quality

Mayor Whitmore also has another responsibility. He has to watch the money Newton pays out for everything. If he didn't, Newton residents would have to stop boasting about their fairly reasonable tax rate. If he indulged a little free-spending on a grand scale Newton could join that ever-growing list of Massachusetts cities and towns which are talking about the bankruptcy actions around the corner.

We've been suspecting right along that the U.S. Army the most concerned belittler of poor Nahanton street.

The Army has a NIKE site down around that section of Newton Highlands. To service the NIKE little jeeps are needed. So are M-4 tractors, with a road weight of 18 tons. The jeeps appear to get along Nahanton street without too much trouble. It's the big trucks and the M-4 tractors which have their troubles.

A lot of traffic like that can punish the best of roads Admittedly, Nahanton street isn't the best of all roads. The Army points out that Nahanton street forms part of an approved route for military vehicles.

Thus, Nahanton street has been obliged to give a very good percentage of its service to the U.S. Army.

Here in Newton, we are patriotic. We are in favor of dale area. the U.S. Army. We want the fine men who serve those NIKE batteries to have the very best.

Yet, the thought occurs that if the U.S. Army wants roads built up to its specifications-roads that will carry its big trucks and tractors-in the immediate vicinity of its installations the U.S. Army should pay the cost of the

His aides worked feverishly to rescue the judges bill ifter it was first rejected by the House. They shifted more votes than it seemed they possibly could. And they succeeded in having the measure revived by a vote of 114

Ordinarily, such a piece of work would draw lavish praise from a Governor who has seen one of his pet bills snatched from the very jaws of defeat.

Furcolo's reaction was astonishing—unless, of course, he was putting on an act.

"That means six more headaches for me," was his response, when newsmen questioned him about the action of the House in reversing itself on the issue.

That hardly could have been very encouraging or inspiring to his lieutenants who had worked so hard to save the bill or to the legislators who had stood with the Governor on a matter which might be used against them when they next stand for reelection. Governor Furcolo may be somewhat premature in interpreting the action of the House as providing "six more headaches" for him, meaning, presumably, that he will have to choose six judges from hundreds of friendly lawyers who would like to don black robes and sit on the Furcolo and his aides have a long way to go before they can get the bill through the State Senate, and at this stage the prospects are that they will not be able to do it. With 21 Republicans and 19 Democrats in the Senate Furcolo's agents must either persuade two GOP publican Senators to absent themselves from the session even if they can muster a solid Democratic front. The Republican Senators are going to be right under the political guns on this issue, with the GOP high command demanding loudly that the bill be killed.

Solons to vote in favor of the measure or induce three Re-

It's not going to be easy for any Republican Solon to vote for the measure. It's not going to be much easier for one of them to take a walk when the matter is being voted upon. That maneuver would be pretty obvious.

Furcolo's lieutenants used the patronage power of the Governor's office to save the judges bill in the House. They'll presumably employ the same power in their efforts to get the measure through the Senate.

Incidentally, that may mean more than "six head-aches" in the House for Furcolo. Some members, who have stood consistently with Furcolo and have received what they term a "few crumbs" of patronage, were deeply chagrined to learn of the inducements offered to fellow legislators who had first lined up against the judges bill. Any Republican Senator who records himself for the measure will be taking his political life into his hands

under the present circumstances.

A GOP Solon conceivably might vote for the bill on a promise that he would be given one of the judgeships. Except for a deal of that nature, however, it seems unlikely that even the patronage power of the Governor's office can get Furcolo the votes in the Senate that he needs in order to avoid another defeat.

And if Furcolo wins his fight on the strength of deals and trades made by or for him, the public reaction is bound to be unfavorable. Most people like to see the judiciary kept out of politics.

State Withholding Tax Plan Seems Destined For Defeat

Another battle now shaping up will centre around a proposal for a State withholding tax, under which a weekly deduction for State income taxes would be made from the pay envelope of the average worker.

The argument offered in support of that idea is that it would enable the State department of taxation to put its finger on those wage-earners who should be paying a State income tax but instead are ducking it.

Actually, the State withholding scheme seems preposterous to this observer and one that should be deposited in the nearest ashcan.

In the first place, the average businessman would be put to a costly procedure of deducting the taxes of his employees. One businessman estimated to the writer this week that the average deduction in his establishment would be 50 cents per week per employee and that the bookkeeping work involved for each employee would cost him more than that.

Secondly, the State itself is going to be put to a great deal of expense to collect the tax and keep the voluminous records that would be necessary. It probably would be put to even greater expense in making refunds to persons from whom too much money is deducted. State tax experts explain that it's not possible to pinpoint on any formula the exact amount of taxes that should be deducted from a worker's pay.

Thirdly, the State not long ago installed a new system for running down tax-dodgers ,and if it is not locating them that way, it's not likely to find many of them through a withholding tax.

It is a matter of opinion whether a State withholding tax would yield enough additional revenue for the Commonwealth to justify the expense it would cause, to say nothing of the nuisance it would create for every business firm in Massachusetts and even for the workers them-

Except for the fact that some legislators, who are unwilling to vote for a sales tax, might compromise by voting for a State withholding tax, it's highly improbable that a State withholding plan would even be given serious consideration on Beacon Hill during the present legislative session.

By comparison with the federal income tax, the State income tax is so small and its exemptions are sufficiently large that the tax paid by the average wage-earner is somewhere between $25 and $35 a year.

That means that the deduction from the average pay envelope would be 50, 60 or 70 cents a week. The cost of making those deductions would be ridiculous.

Our guess is that after long-winded debate and discussion the withholding tax bill will go down the drain where it belongs.

Doyle Blast At Judges Bill Commands Unusual Attention

One of the unusual aspects of the determined and allout fight waged by Representative Charles R. Doyle of West Roxbury against the bill to add six more judges to the Superior Court was that Doyle directed Governor Furcolo's campaign last fall in the West Roxbury-Roslin-

But the forthright, straight-talking Doyle, downthe-line Democrat that he is, weighs a bill on its merits, not on the politics of its sponsors.

That gave added weight to his action in battling the judges measure and to his charge that it is a "job grab" and "court packing" bill.

Had the same accusation been made by a Republican here might have been a disposition on the part of some listeners to attribute it to partisan politics.

In this instance, however, the blast was levelled at Furcolo by a devoted and dedicated Democrat, a young legislator who has been unwavering in his support of the Democratic party and its principles. Thus, when Representative Doyle charges that the empt to push through the bill was "a wanton disregard for the taxpayers' money," it is time for Democrats as well as Republicans to sit back and appraise carefully what is happening on Beacon Hill. "If I have to choose between the welfare of the Democratic party and the palace guard in the Governor's ing. office, I'll go along with the Democratic party," declared

Those were strong words, coming as they did from a young Democratic leader who just eight months ago was on the political firing line battling to accomplish the election of Foster Furcolo as Governor of Massachu-

It was a ringing warning, too, when he characterized the bill as a "give-away program that will be responsible for the defeat of many Democrats in the next election."

One must assume that Representative Doyle felt pretty deeply to make the charges that he hurled across the chamber of the House of Representatives.

Rudsten May Get Protest Vote From The Sales Tax Opponents

Former State Senator Daniel Rudsten is not likely to defeat Governor Furcolo for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the primary a year from September, but he is very apt to cause some uncomfortable and worrisome times for Furcolo before that primary campaign is finally written into history.

Rudsten is an able politician, an articulate speaker and a good campaigner. He was defeated for reelection to the Senate last year because the supporters of Boston's Mayor Hynes lined up against him in retaliation for his opposition to Hynes in the 1955 mayorally compared to know who is going to prosecute the case against the C.C.C. "Are you going to prosecute it?" he asked Sharf. "What kind of a hearing are we going to have?"

Sharf asked Solicitor Jones opposition to Hynes in the 1955 mayorally compared to know who Mayor Hynes lined up against him in retaliation for his opposition to Hynes in the 1955 mayoralty campaign. That defeat, however, by no means reflects Rudsten's ability as a vote-getter.

Aside from Rudsten's own personal qualifications and appeal as a candidate, he will also offer an oppor-tunity for those who feel strongly on the sales tax issue to cast a "protest vote" against Furcolo without leaving the Democratic party.

Political observers who have been closely watching Rudsten's activities since he announced himself a candidate against Furcolo were startled by the developments when Rudsten directed a searing attack upon the Governor in an address before a gathering of labor leaders, all of whom had supported Furcolo for election.

An undercurrent of coolness and even hostility to Rudsten appeared to exist as the former Senator began to talk. When he concluded his remarks, he was accorded a rousing ovation. If he does that many times, he'll provide cause for real alarm in the Furcolo camp.

Robert J. Patterson of 15 Trowbridge street, Newton Center, a carpenter and builder in on Monday morning at the age of 84.

Patterson of the same address, and Mrs. Harriet E. Morrisroe of Quincy, as well as two brothers and two sisters in Canada,

Mr. Patterson had long been a member of the N. C. Methodist Church. Funeral services were held at the Newton Cemetery Chapel yesterday.

The Board of Aldermen this week rescinded a permit it had issued for the installation of gasoline tanks and the storage of gasoline at 46 Farwell street, Newtonville, thus ending a strange set of circumstances. The permit had been issued to Mrs. Rose Gringeri.

It wasn't until a representative of the Cities Service Oil Company appeared and testi-fied at this week's meeting that the Aldermen were able to fig-ure out how the gasoline tank came to be installed at 46 Farwell street, after they had authorized the issuance of a permit for a pump and tank at 110 Farwell street.

The Cities Services salesman explained that he had been responsible for having Mrs. Gringeri apply for a renewal of her permit for 120 Farwell street. He said that through inadvertence he had the permit issued for 46 Farwell street instead of 120 and that he then had the gasoline tank and pump installed at 46 Farwell street at a cost of between $700 and $800.

The Aldermen then voted to escind the permit and ordered the tank and pump removed from theh premises at 46 Far-

No car is a bargain if it's obsolete in styling and engineering features. All Elevators To Be Inspected Under New Bill

Massachusetts, with a building elevator code regarded as one of the best in the nation from the standpoint of safety, will strengthen that code further through the medium of a bill filed by Representative George E. Rawson of Newton and passed by both branches of the Legislature.

Under the terms of Repre-sentative Rawson's measure which will now be incorporated into the State law, no part of the State will now have a building elevator which will not come under proper inspection. The Newton representative's House Bill 280 will provide the means by which adequate legal inspections may be made. The act empowers the commissioner of Public Safety to divide the State into districts, each in charge of a full time inspector.

A city or town now having an inspector competent to inspect an elevator may be a district. In case there are no inspectors in cities and towns, the Department of Public Safety shall inspect the elevators and assign the inspec-tion costs to the cities and towns concerned.

In this way, Representative Rawson believes, the State will be able to take further action to prevent elevator acci-

A $7240 plan for the installation of a 1060-foot, 8-inch water main through private land to a point just within the prop-erty line of Temple Mishkan Tefila on the Hammond Pond parkway, also gained approval from the Aldermen. The trenching, drilling and blasting work necessary in connection with this project is to be done by the Temple, the Aldermen were told.

The Aldermanic stamp of approval was given to a $358.88 appropriation for a land-taking in connection with the widening of Lexington street. An allowance of $480 was earmarked to finance a survey of all elevators installed in New ton prior to March, 1950. This is required by the State Depart-ment of Public Safety. The Aldermen held up a $5.

The car itself was found to be badly damaged after the front porch at 595 Watertown street finally served as a road-block to halt its careening course.

Conroy told police he was sitting waiting for the traffic light to change when suddenly everything went black.

Although he was in his auto-mobile as it went over side-walks and across lawns, he had no recollection of the wild ride.

Another-factor is that accurate TV service involves careful testing with the right testing equipment. Testing eliminates guesswork. . . the guesswork that could leave a set only "half fixed," or even lead to replacement of a tube or part that didn't need replacing.
